Commission Attempts To Rescind Ruling

Last year's commission members will be contacted and asked to rescind their ruling that a $312.32 reserve from the previous year's budget be turned over to the student union fund, it was decided at Tuesday's commission meeting.

The commission budget committee, appointed by President George Miljanich at the group's last meeting, met for the first time last Friday. Committee members decided that the funds should be held in reserve in case of a possible deficit at the end of this year. It is necessary to contact last year's officers, Miljanich said, in order to set aside their ruling.

Miljanich reported for Sophomore Representative Roy Taylor, who attended a regional conference of student leaders in San Francisco last week. The question of admitting student body card holders of other schools to athletic functions free of charge will be left up to the individual school, it was decided. According to Taylor, it was suggested that schools send out statements of policy on this matter at the beginning of each year, in order to clarify the situation.

Student government conferees meeting in San Bernardino October 27, 28 and 29 will take up the following, Taylor's report said:

Ways to promote student card sales; athletic awards; student apathy; transfer units for courses in student government.

Mr. Lemos read a letter from Calvin C. Flint, president of the Monterey Peninsula college, explaining that the Hartnell student body will be responsible for the bill for $52 to repaint the Monterey college's sign, damaged last week by students presumably from Hartnell.

Tom Ford reported that the juke box took in $19 this week; Bonnie Hearn requested that the administration establish a loading zone for buses to decrease the possibility of accident; and Gardner Pond reported that the lights given by last year sophomore class have arrived and will be installed soon.

Field Day Plans Set

AFFAIR CLIMAXED BY SUPPER, DANCE NEXT WEDNESDAY

Plans for the big Men's Club Field Day and supper have been tentatively set by club president John Alsop. The field day will begin at 2 p.m. next Wednesday, and the dance and supper will follow in the men's gym in the evening. According to President J. B. Lemos, classes will be shortened Wednesday to permit students to participate in field day activities.

There will be contests of various types between sophomore and freshman classes, according to Alsop. Under the direction of field day chairman Thane Olsen, these events will be run off: greased pig contest, chicken picking contest, girls' softball game, tennis, volleyball, badminton, sandbag race, gunnysack race, horseshoes, touch football, and mudhole tug-of-war. Two other events, wheelbarrow race from Main Street to the campus, and a calf-catching contest, have been tentatively scheduled.

The Men's Club supper will be held in the gym free of charge to student body card holders, but non-card holders will be charged 50 cents. The main course of the dinner will be chicken. After the dinner the beard and ribbon judging will be held, and the winners will be awarded prizes.

The club will present entertainment, and dancing will follow until around 9 o'clock. General chairman for the supper is Donald Dye.

Alsop announced at the same time that the Men's Club will sponsor a dance following the San Mateo football game on October 21. The club is negotiating for the services of a good orchestra for the affair.

Appointments For Soph Pictures

La Reata Editor Camille Johnson has announced that all sophomore students should make their graduation picture appointments now. The photographer who will take this year's pictures will be Hurl Swartz of Salinas.

Appointments may be made by calling 7214, and may be scheduled for either day or evening. Pictures will be taken at Mr. Swartz' studio located four blocks from Hartnell College, at 15 Santa Rosa Street, in nearby Pacific Park.

An initial deposit of $1.50 is required on the pictures at the time the picture is taken. Women students should have at least one pose in a sweater, and men should have a pose in suit coat, white shirt, and tie for publication in La Reata.

Prices for Hartnell students for graduation pictures will be as follows (prices are for three, six, and twelve pictures respectively): black and white, four by six inches, $5, $8, and $12; bronze, four by six inches, $7, $10, and $15; black and white, five by seven inches, $7, $10, and $15; and bronze, five by seven inches, $9, $12, and $17.

ELECTION TODAY

Run-off election for the office of U.G.C. vice-president and election of W.A.A. officers is being held today.

Competing for the U.G.C. office are Alice Page and Irene Piini. Candidates for W.A.A. officers are:

President, Margie Garcia and Janet Christmas; vice-president, Florence Gin and Mary Manteufel; secretary-treasurer, Joan Farnsworth, Catherine Russo and Mary Lou Young; reporter, Phyllis Williams.

Polls are open from 9 a.m. until 12 noon in front of the main office.

Don Schrupp

Anita Turpin

Dean Stamatopoulos

Casting was completed this week for the leads in the musical comedy "The Hither and Thither of Danny Dither," to be presented December 1 and 2. Don Schrupp will play the title role of Danny, the amiable hero. Daisy O'Doole, the tough but charming leader of a gang of Dead End Kids, will be played by Anita Turpin, and Lucifer Lucas, the Mephistopholes of the show, will be played by Dean Stamatopoulos.

AS WE SEE IT

By PAT POLLOCK

Last week before the Cal Poly game, a little retouching job was done on the Monterey Peninsula College sign just off the highway.

Because of the nature of the "inscription," which was lettered on in nonwashable paint, it is assumed that the artists were members of the Hartnell student body.

Obviously, those responsible for the damage either weren't aware of or didn't stop to consider two things.

First, that an agreement was made last year by the two schools that any property damage done to either school would be paid for by the student body of the school responsible.

Second, that the property does not belong to either student body, but to the taxpayers of the school district.

President Lemos received a letter this week from Mr. Calvin Flint, president of M.P.C., in which Mr. Flint estimated that repainting the sign would cost Hartnell about $52. The commission has had to appropriate this amount from another fund to "foot the bill."

According to Mr. Lemos, a series of exchange assemblies with Monterey planned for much later in the year, will of necessity begin Monday. The band, President Lemos, and George Miljanich will visit the Monterey campus Monday on a "good will" mission, to make up in part for last week's incident.

No one will deny that "friendly rivalry" between Hartnell and Monterey is a healthy thing, and should be encouraged. Willful property damage is, however, another thing. Let's keep our rivalry on a more "amicable" plane. November 21, when we play the boys from Monterey will be time enough to show them how we feel.

Whited Captain

End Bill Whited has been named captain for tonight's game with the Stockton Mustangs. Hartnell rooters will leave by bus at 3:30 this afternoon for Stockton, and will return tonight.

Sears will broadcast the game tonight over KSNF-FM, 93.5.

Flyers Earn Money On Game Concessions

Flying club members might earn enough flying time to last through the entire year by working in the concessions during football season, Mr. Emil Ramos, club advisor reported today.

Students who would like to join the club but feel that they cannot meet the $15 initiation fee may arrange with Mr. Ramos to work out this cost at the concessions. The club still has room for a few more students.

Hartnell Plans MPC Assemblies

Exchange assemblies between Hartnell and Monterey Peninsula colleges will take place early next week, according to Mr. John B. Lemos, college president.

The Hartnell band, members of the dramatic department, George Miljanich, student body president, and Mr. Lemos will provide entertainment at the Monterey college Monday. Monterey will send entertainers for an assembly here next Wednesday.

Purpose of the exchange will be to "cement friendship between the two schools," Mr. Lemos said.

The assemblies were planned as a gesture of friendship and were to be held much later in the year. However, since the sign painting incident in which Hartnell students painted "Hartnell Extension" on the Monterey College sign, it was decided to have them held at the earlier date.

CAMPUSOLOGY

By BOB WHITE

Friday night was an eventful one for the rooters who turned out to see that the rally woodpile was not set afire ahead of time. When not watching suspicious looking cars going past Hartnell, they sang school songs, rent the night air with school yells and just plain yelled yells and danced around a tiny campfire in the east corner of the parking lot. By 11 o'clock a good 50 or so students were gathered around.

Cal Poly fellas came by, but they seemed rather timid. They must have been surprised to see the "little army" on guard.

About 11:30, a group of Salinas rowdies turned up with heated intentions. Dean Stamatopoulos really showed the old college fight and tried to prevent them from lighting the woodpile. A crowd of Hartnell rooters watched Dean get shoved around by a big clown (he was about 6 feet 4 inches, it was reported). The fire was quickly extinguished, anyway. After a checkup at the hospital, Dean came back to spend the rest of the night at guard duty.

It was near 1 o'clock when the fire watch had dwindled to a dozen that the Cal Poly boys really thought they were pulling a fast one. Some of them came out and diverted attention with very amiable "buddy-buddy" conversation while other Poly-ites snuck around to the front of the college and lit a big "C.P." written in gasoline on the lawn. Luckily enough, John Alsop and Richard Cimino happened by in time to stamp it out.

The rest of the night the guards sat around telling stories and wondering if the rally woodpile was sufficiently stocked to keep their small campfire going.

At 7 o'clock Saturday morning they took one last look at the sadly depleted pile and left for home and bed.

This is a tale of the trials and tribulations of Ken Koenig who volunteered to take charge of the victory bell Saturday night.

He tried to find helpers to take the bell out to the rally bonfire, but helpers were hard to find. He got it there, anyway.

After the rally was over, Ken started the bell on its way to the game. But before he could get it off the campus, a gang of "Cal Polies" ringed around and discussed whether they should throw the bell into the rally fire or no. Ken sat determinedly on the thing and steadfastly refused to be budged. He was prepared to go with it. Finally the guys gave up and left. Then Koenig rounded up some help, commandeered a car and got the bell inside the stadium.

For the first hour or so of the game, it looked like the bell was just going to be so much surplus baggage. The game ended up fine though and Ken rang it until the only thing he could hear was the cheering section.

After the game the victory bell was taken back to its home in the little room in the mechanical drawing room. The other day someone asked Ken why he didn't ring the bell at the game.

Bonfire Saved From Marauders

Even though several tries were made to burn down the bonfire last Thursday and Friday nights, all went well for what proved to be a successful rally Saturday night.

Head Yell Leader Dewey Chambers, expressed his thanks this week to those who helped make the bonfire, rally, and dance a success by helping to gather wood, donate trucks, and for showing so much school spirit at the game.

Almost 100 students appeared last Friday night to protect the woodpile from the hands of the Cal Poly, Monterey Peninsula College, and "loyal" Salinas marauders. They did not succeed in burning it down though, and they didn't leave without a hearty welcome from Hartnell students.

Regardless of all this, the bonfire was a success with part of the Hartnell band and the Cal Poly yell leaders to help pep up the gang.

Lemos Commends Student Cooperation

"Students deserve a pat on the back for the way in which they have cooperated this year by not parking cars on the residential side of Homestead Avenue," President J. B. Lemos said today.

Few, if any cars, said Mr. Lemos, have been parked on the far side of the street. Students have cooperated by parking cars in the two available parking lots, or on the college side of Homestead.

"I would say that this is the best year yet as far as cooperation is concerned," he stated.

He mentioned, however, that some students are still careless with their cigarette butts, and requested that they be put in the containers placed around the campus for that purpose.

"TRINE" STOP ME

By PHIL TRINE

Foremost in the minds of Hartnell College students presently is the coming Men's Club dinner. Preparations are being laid to make this year's annual event one to remember. Whiskers have sprouted, and ribbons appeared in anticipation of the gala affair.

Difficulties have been encountered by several coeds who find it almost impossible to adjust themselves to the "frosh dink" and ribbon. Jolene Brogden and Marilee Hubbard are constantly seen trying to find the right tilt for their chapeaux. Betty Hay has encountered many troubles in keeping her ribbon atop her cranium. Seems the boys just won't let the thing stay. Right, Betty?

In the recent frosh election something new was added in the way of campaigning. BUNKY MILLSAP and BOB ADENT, elected president and vice-president respectively, conducted their vote-getting with a personal touch. Seems Bob and "Bunky" cornered practically every frosh in the school and told them who the right man for the job was. Greeting their voters with a cheery "hello," they pounced on their prey and gave their full qualifications. Seems to have done some good, too.

JOHN B. LEMOS, our college president, added another job to his long list of duties last week. Twice Mr. Lemos was the first man to spy culprits lighting the huge woodpile which was used for the bonfire rally last Saturday night. His quick action saved the college from disaster as he collected a group to put out the blaze.

Others didn't fare so well in protecting the woodpile as a gang of marauders tried to touch off the fire prematurely last Friday. DEAN STAMATOPOULOS received a battle wound on his chin in defending the material. JULEDRA LEWIS, majorette, proved a worthy defender as she landed a kayo punch on a would-be fire-lighter. Anyhow, that's how the story goes.

Buses are hoped to be in order for tonight's first conference game with Stockton. Ah, yes, those long bus trips with everybody yelling and singing. The two are sometimes indistinguishable but it doesn't seem to make any difference.

And so that's it for this week. See you at Stockton.

Rally Committee Dance Success

Approximately $160 was made on the dance held last Saturday night after the Cal Poly game, according to Head Yell Leader Dewey Chambers. Several hundred students from Hartnell and Cal Poly alike attended the affair which got under way about 11 and lasted until 1 o'clock.

Said Chambers, "Phyllis Butters and her hard working committee on decorations deserve lots of credit from the student body."

Clubs Meet

All Hartnell college clubs will elect officers and representatives to the interclub council today at 3 o'clock during the regular assembly period, with the exception of those clubs who have already done so.

During this period, the clubs will begin their organization for the new year.

The interclub council, for which the clubs will elect representatives, is an organization which will coordinate all the activities of the various college clubs. It receives one representative, usually the president, from each club. Dee Fosselman is president.

Soph Women Treat Frosh to Tea

The freshman tea, under the sponsorship of the Upsilon Gamma Chi, was held yesterday in the dining room from 2 to 4. Punch and cookies were served by several sophomore girls.

The object of these teas, which are held yearly, is to make it possible for all girls to become acquainted, and thus promote better relations.

The advisor of the tea was Miss Mildred Novotny, assisted by Miss June Handley and the officers of the U.G.C. The newly elected officers of the organization are Barbara Johnson, president; Mary Ann Silliman, secretary; Deon Dyer, treasurer-reporter. There is to be a run-off election today for the position of vice-president between Alice Page and Irene Piini.

Art Club Students Design Exhibits

Art club will exhibit water colors, oils, and third dimensional designs in construction during the performances of "Angel Street," October 27, 28, and 29, across from the little theater in room 31. All work is to be done by students, Bob Kensinger, club president, announced today.

Members of the Art Club are planning a trip to the San Francisco art exhibition soon, according to Kensinger.

Deficiency Notes

First six weeks of the fall semester will end October 21, and the following week has been designated "Gloom Week." Deficiency notices will be sent out then to those whose grades are not all they should be.

Students receiving deficiencies should return them to Mr. Jerry Girdner in his office.

PANTHERS WIN ROUGH ONE, 19-13

In their first home game of the season, Hartnell's Panthers came from way back to win from the Cal Poly Frosh by one touchdown. With but five minutes left to play in the third period, the Colts had the Panthers buried under a 13 point advantage.

The Panthers, who never stopped trying, took heart after Fred Manteufel's 40 yard touchdown run with an intercepted pass. Jim Miyasato punched the second Panther touchdown across, and Frances Rianda recovered a fumbled punt in the Colt end zone for the final score that broke the tie and put Hartnell on top of the pile, 19-13.

The game was a rough and hard fought affair that lacked the "friendly" rivalry spirit. Both teams incurred 35 yards in penalties. However, this can be no measure of the number of infractions of the rules.

Panther ground attack was very effective, as usual, and the Hartnell linemen were excellent on defense. The Hartnell forward wall allowed the Colts less than 50 yards on the ground; however, the old Panther plague, no pass defense, really was what kept the team from completely bottling the Colts.

Colts struck with startling speed when, on the opening play of the game, Howard Decker threw a 25 yard pass to left end Roy Wennerholm who went all the remaining 40 yards to the score.

The Panther attack worked well until it reached the Colt 10 yard line and there it bogged down on two occasions in the first quarter.

Hartnell halfbacks did a fine offensive job throughout the course of the evening. Bill Cooke ran well, and Fred Manteufel was very effective at bulling his way downfield. However the individual honors must go to Jimmy Miyasato and Doug Severin. Jimmy played very well throughout the contest, and Severin, who was playing in his first game for Hartnell, was a standout for his excellence on both offense and defense in the fourth quarter.

Sports Champs May Get Awards

In order to stimulate participation in intra-mural sports, Mr. J. B. Lemos has approved the purchase of 43 intra-mural sports medals. These medals are to be given to the winners of various sports events.

Coach Jess Regli will work out the program which will include volleyball, tennis, softball, basketball, and table tennis.

In all probability the first sport to be run off will be table tennis, with volleyball, basketball, tennis, and softball following.

Hartnell-Stockton Tonight; Injured Men Still Out

After workouts which started hard on Monday and then tapered off, the Hartnell Panthers travel to Stockton today to play the Mustangs. The game is slated for tonight after the Homecoming Rodeo being held by Stockton College.

After a poor showing against Cal Poly, the Panthers are pointing for the Mustangs. The players have fire and spirit to spare. They feel that they know their potentialities by now, after three games.

Coach Ab Wilson has been drilling them on various types of pass defenses and formations. After a very loose defense against Muir, and then with a nearly perfect record against Bakersfield, last Saturday's pass defense left much to be desired.

Last year against Stockton, Hartnell left the field at half-time trailing 21-0. The second half the Panthers came raging out on the field and trampled Stockton, leaving the final score in Hartnell's favor, 31-21.

This year Hartnell meets Stockton with one loss and two wins, while the Mustangs have lost three straight; 6-0 to Sacramento, 48-7 under Santa Rosa, and 28-0 to San Mateo, leaving a total of 82-7. Hartnell has totaled 31 points while allowing opponents 38.

Coach Wilson hopes to be able to play various injured members of the squad by this weekend. Loren Green's knee has improved to some extent while Joe Olivera's knee is slightly better. Bill Walker is not expected to play for a couple of weeks yet.
